

If you are going to tweet at the event please use

@ihr_history @EcHistSoc @PastPresentSoc

WiFi information:

Network: UoL Conferences

Password: TBC

09:30	Registration and Refreshments (Wolfson Room II)
10:10	Welcome & Introductions (Wolfson Room I) Charlotte Berry (Institute of Historical Research) and Esther Lewis (University of Nottingham)
10:15	Chair: Charlotte Berry (Institute of Historical Research)
Panel session 1	Nineteenth Century Prostitute Networks in Stamford and Peterborough Claire Richardson (Institute of Historical Research)
Women and marginal groups in network analysis	The classes of 1888-1898: University of London women undergraduates and their networks Jonathan Blaney and Philip Carter (Institute of Historical Research)
	Living on the Edge. Did Colonialism Really Create Outsiders? The Case of the 18th Century Portuguese Empire Agata Bloch (Polish Academy of Sciences/Nova University of Lisbon)
	Women in business in New Amsterdam and Rotterdam during the seventeenth century Maarten F. Van Dijck (Erasmus University Rotterdam)
12:00	Lunch and poster presentations (Wolfson Room II)

13:00

Panel session 2

Chair: Matthew Hammond (King's College London)

Understanding the Maritime Community: A Network Approach

Leanna Brinkley (University of Southampton)

Pre-modern sources

and network analysis

Networks of Membership: The Ludlow Palmers' Guild

Rachael Harkes (University of Durham)

Monks, Merchants, and Matrices: A Social Network Analysis of Reading in 1350-1600

Joe Chick (University of Warwick)

14:30

Refreshments (Wolfson Room II)

15:00

Panel session 3

Innovative

methodologies in SNA

Chair: Justin Colson (University of Essex)

Social Network Analysis and the Sound Toll Register Online - A Cross-

Sectional Inspection of the Over-Sea trade Connections Going Through the

Danish Sound in 1670

Joonas Kinnunen (University of Turku)

The Rise of New Corruption: British MPs during the Railway Mania of 1845

Rui Esteves (University of Oxford) and Gabriel Mesevage (Institute of Advanced Studies, Toulouse)

Quantitative Network Analysis of Appointment Diaries

Neil Rollings (University of Glasgow) and Mark Tranmer (University of Glasgow)

16:30

Break (Wolfson Room II)

16:40

Keynote lecture

Chair: Esther Lewis (University of Nottingham)

Dr Sheryllynne Haggerty (University of Nottingham)

17:45

Wine reception

Kindly supported by:

For further information contact:

Institute of Historical Research Senate House Malet Street London WC1E 7HU

Email: ihr.events@sas.ac.uk

Follow us on:

@ihr_history

facebook.com/InstituteofHistoricalResearch